Partnerships for Action

Raising the profile of resilience action in the Pacific through the Pacific Resilience Partnership

Expressions of interest are being sought for the establishment of Pacific Resilience Partnership (PRP) Technical Working Groups (TWG).

The inaugural 2019 Pacific Resilience Meeting (PRM) is the first opportunity to facilitate ‘Partnerships for Action’ through the establishment of PRP TWGs. Each proposed TWG will be expected to address relevant current or emerging challenges and opportunities relevant to the implementation of the Framework for Resilient Development in the Pacific. The proposed TWG will need to have a clear Terms of Reference (TOR), be result focused and include milestones, timelines and with a definitive end date.

1. Expression of Interest - In order to register interest in establishing a PRP Technical Working Group the template below will need to be completed and submitted by email to pacific.resilience.partnership@gmail.com. Feedback and further guidance will be given following the PRM.
2. Terms of Reference (ToR) - Upon receipt of the EOI and following an initial review by the PRP Support Unit, the proponent will be required to submit a detailed ToR for the proposed TWG. Note that submitting an EOI does not constitute agreement to establish a TWG and the proponent takes full responsibility for the subsequent necessary processes to develop the ToR, seek financial resources to support the efforts of the TWG and ensure the TWG delivers in accordance with its objectives.
3. The key issues that should guide the establishment of TWG:
 - a. Should not create duplication or exist in parallel with other similar activities/undertakings happening around the region;
 - b. Should produce tangible and credible outcomes that contribute to resilience building and facilitate increased buy-in from relevant stakeholders.
